RareBooksClub. Paperback. Book Condition: New. This item is printed on demand. Paperback. 96 pages. OCLC Number: (OCoLC)43514050 Subject: Intercountry adoption -- Law and legislation. Excerpt: . . . 12 most appropriate treatment plans to bring the child to their maxi-mum potential. If I may just say that I have probably, in my research sample, and it is included in my testimony which the committee has al-ready, we are organizing a very detailed research sample, in con-junction with Dr. Dana Johnson and the University of Minnesota, and Dr. Pat Mason, of Emory University, which should solidify all the data on the long-term effects of institutionalization regarding thousands of cases. In my one sample, which I have seen, which has been reported, of over 1, 500 internationally adopted children, every one of them were informed by their adoption agency that they were healthy. All 1, 500 of them were not healthy. I broke down the statistics in terms of by numbers. But if we were to look at approximations, 50 to 60 percent of the children had long-term chronic problems; 20 to 30 percent had refractory or chronic difficulties that would require lifelong care and probably a lack of independence on the part of the child; and less than 20 per-cent of our sample, which is corroborated now with an additional sample that I have provided from Emory University, since they have also done recent data collections, show that the children were able to be resilient. Again, sir, all of the children were advised by their agencies that they were healthy. The statements that were made consistently to me from the families, since I have had the opportunity to review a modicum of medical records, that to disregard the medical records, the children will be fine, they are slightly delayed, they need...
